TEN LIVES ARE LOST ON A SINKING SHIP

SCHOONER C. J. WHITE FOULS OFF KODIA ISLAND.

Half a Score of Human Beings Go Down With the Boat—Prince of Wales' Horse Florisell Second Wins the Manchester Cup—News Cabled Across the Water.

Fernandina, Fla., June 7.—The master stroke of the Cuban revolutionary movement in this country is announced to occur within three days. The leaders of the party in the United States have decided the next big effort must be from the United States coast south of Charleston. They have decided the expedition should be made ready at once; that it should sail from some point between Brunswick, Ga., and Mayport, Fla.; that it should be commanded by Col. Enrique Collazo; and that the fleet should be guarded by three newly built torpedo boats of the latest pattern and of great speed and manned by experienced seamen. Collazo is to land the expedition at some point in the province of Puerto Principe, where forces collected by Gomez and Marti will co-operate.

SPANISH MINISTER PROTESTS.

Calls the Attention of Our Government to Filibustering Expeditions.

Washington, June 7.—Mr. De Lome, the Spanish minister to the United States, has called the attention of the state department to allegations that filibustering expeditions against Spanish authority in Cuba are being fitted out in the bayous of the Lower Mississippi river. He also says armed citizens of some of the southern states often parade with arms, with a view to joining some of these outgoing expeditions, or at least to give active encouragement to the Cuban revolutionaries. It is believed at the department there is little truth in the reports which reach here from the South of the fitting out of warlike expeditions against Cuba.

Spanish officials here are keeping close watch on several supposed expeditionary movements for the purpose of furnishing information on which to request action by the United States government. One of the expeditions is believed to have started from Philadelphia. The suspected ships, it is said, are the George Childs and Bridgerton. The Spanish officials connect the movements of these ships with suspicious operations at Dauphin and Cat Island, on the mouth of the Mississippi.

English Comment on Spanish Rule.
London, June 7.—The Times in an editorial leader upon the subject of the extension of the Cuban insurrection and the reported movements of the American filibusters says the attitude of the American government is diplomatically correct, but that much sympathy with the Cuban rebels is daily noticeable among the American people. "Probably the retention of Cuba by Spain," it says, "is a mere question of justifiable pride and sentiment. It is a pity, however, Spain makes no attempt to harmonize the interests of the population of Cuba with those of its rulers."

The Standard intimates that when the insurrection in Cuba is ended Spain will request the United States to pay part of the costs for suppressing it.

Spanish Ministry Alarmed.

Madrid, June 7.—Captain-General Martinez de Campos has sent a cable message to the Spanish government announcing that several insurgent leaders are expected to effect a landing in Cuba shortly, and he adds that owing to fresh disturbances on the island, possibly the recent invasion of the province of Santa Clara by Cuban insurgents, he asks for a reinforcement of six battalions of infantry. The cabinet, after thoroughly discussing the situation from all its standpoints, has decided to send ten additional battalions of infantry to Cuba without delay. It is expected in addition to the ten battalions of infantry another general will be sent to assist De Campos. The loan for the Cuban expedition will be 15,000,000 pesetas ($3,000,000).

Insurgent Leader Surrenders.

Havana, June 7.—A dispatch received from Manzanillo, province of Santiago de Cuba, announces the surrender to Spanish authorities there of the well-known insurgent leader Fonseca Santisteban Guevara.

Deny Filibustering Expedition.

Mobile, Ala., June 7.—There is no truth in the report of a filibustering expedition leaving Dauphin Island. The schooner Meteor sailed from here ten days ago, but did not stop at Dauphin Island.

Fire May Cause a Death.

Lockport, N. Y., June 7.—The sash and blind factory of the Middleport Manufacturing company at Middleport has been destroyed by fire. Loss, $50,000; insurance, $25,000. Ernest Smith, an employee, was badly burned and may die. Several firemen were hurt.

Serious Fire at Sardis, Miss.

Menniss, Tenn., June 7.—Fire at Sardis, Miss., yesterday destroyed the Racket store and the stores of J. D. Hanson, R. V. Hunter & Co., J. J. Henderson and J. R. Buchanan & Co., besides several other buildings. The loss is heavy.

Fighters to Meet Again.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 7.—Tommy Ryan has received a dispatch from "Mysterious" Billy Smith, agreeing to fight to a finish, the winner to take all the purse. The two men will meet in Boston or New York within a few days to close the negotiations. It is proposed to hold the fight at the same place as the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight.

FOR A SHIP CANAL.

Illinois Senate Advances a Measure with That Object in View.

Springfield, Ill., June 7.—Bogardus' bill to appropriate $25,000 for the purpose of collecting data looking toward the building of a ship canal from Lake Michigan to the gulf came up yesterday on Johnson's amendment to appropriate $15,000 for the purpose. After the senate refused to adopt the amendment Green moved that the enacting clause be stricken out. This occasioned some debate, and finally Green said that he had just heard that the house committee had reported the bill unfavorably, and in order to make its death as easy as possible he would withdraw his motion. The bill was then advanced to a third reading without opposition. The senate disposed of all special orders and the pending question was Aspinwall's pool selling bill. It was laid on the table without opposition. Little's motion to reconsider the vote by which his revenue bill failed to pass was continued until Tuesday. The motion to reconsider the vote by which the house oleomargarine bill was advanced to third reading was held to be void, as it was not brought up within two days. The bill was allowed to take its place on the calendar on the order of third reading.

Kingsbury's bill providing for the appointment of food and scale inspectors in towns was defeated.

Senator Anthony's bill to revise the law in relation to mechanic's liens passed—aye, 31; nays, 2.

In the house Mr. Needles, from the committee on appropriations, made a favorable report on the senate bill making appropriation for the ordinary expenses of the state institutions. The committee amendment reducing the total amount from $1,265,770 to $1,150,875 was adopted. The bill was advanced to third reading. Mr. Bailey secured a reconsideration of the vote by which his bill making rape a capital offense failed to pass Tuesday last. The bill being recalled to second reading the amendment previously adopted increasing the age of consent from 14 to 16 years was reconsidered and voted down. The bill was then advanced to third reading.

WHEN THE WAR ENDED.

Important Decision Bearing on the Pension Rights of Soldiers.

Washington, June 7.—Another decision has been rendered by Assistant Secretary Reynolds bearing on the question of the date of the termination of the civil war and the pensionable rights of soldiers enlisting in 1865 and 1866. The conclusion reached by Mr. Reynolds is that in all these cases the question to be ascertained is whether the enlistment of the soldiers was for service in the war of the rebellion or for the regular army. If the former he is pensionable and if the latter he is not.

The secretary holds that enlistments in the loyal states after April 13, 1865, when recruiting ceased, will not be deemed enlistments in or for the war of the rebellion. In the other states, territories and the District of Columbia, June 1, 1865, will be taken as the final date, as enlistments then ceased in these parts of the country, and July 1, 1865, when the blockade of the southern ports was raised, will be taken as the final date of war enlistments for the navy.

BANKER CASSATT ARRESTED.

Failure of the Pella National Bank Assuming a Serious Look.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 7.—Ex-Senator E. R. Cassatt, until recently the president of the First National Bank of Pella, arrived here yesterday on the Rock Island train with United States Marshal Gray. Investigation shows that $60,000 of the bank's funds are missing, much of it belonging to the poor of the town. While it is generally known that part of his dealings on the board of trade was alleged to have been done through a Des Moines bucket-shop, his later and larger deals were made in Chicago. The amount of cash on hand is $3,000, while the examiner's report for January showed the amount on hand to be 40 per cent of the full amount. The fact that the present cashier, J. H. Stuvenbruch, swore to the bank's being in a solvent condition on March 5 and May 7 places him in a peculiar position.

Indiana County Treasurers Settle.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 7.—Twenty-two counties that have refused to settle with the state unless the auditor will allow them fees under the law of 1879 have made out settlement sheets under the law of 1879 and have deposited the money due the state under that law with the state treasurer. By doing this they hope to avoid the 15 per cent penalty which the state auditor is about to impose. State Treasurer Scholz is being criticised for receiving the money from the treasurers. He has given his personal receipt for the money, and will hold it in trust until the Supreme court decides upon what basis the counties shall settle.

Arguments in the Stanford Case.

San Francisco, Cal., June 7.—Counsel for the Leland Stanford estate yesterday continued the argument in opposition to the government claim for $15,000,000 in the United States Circuit court considering principally the laws of the state of California bearing upon the liability of stockholders of incorporated concerns. Counsel contended that the government should have commenced its action within three years after the creation of the liability, as provided by the act of 1850.

Traveling Men Adjudged.

San Antonio, Texas, June 7.—The last day's session of the National Travelers' Protective association was held yesterday. John A. Lee of Missouri was elected president. Terre Haute was selected as the meeting place of the next convention.

Woman Suffrage Defeated.

Ottawa, June 6.—In the house of commons last evening a vote was taken on Mr. Davin's (conservative) resolution to extend franchise to women, and was defeated by 47 to 150 against.

CUBANS STILL HOPE THAT THEY WILL WIN

ARE CONFIDENT OF THEIR ULTIMATE SUCCESS.

Big Expedition Being Got Ready in the United States for Service in Cuba—Spanish Minister At Washington Protests Against the Move—The News of the Uprising.

Victoria, B. C., June 7.—The schooner C. J. White was wrecked off Kodia Island this morning and ten people lost their lives.

London, June 7.—The Manchester cup was won today by the Prince of Wales' horse Florisell Second.

Constantinople, June 7.—The situation of affairs, so far as the settlement of questions in dispute between the Turkish government and the representatives of the powers regarding reform in Armenia is concerned, shows considerable improvement today. This improvement is undoubtedly due to the firm attitude of the powers in positively refusing to accept any modification of the program for the improvement of the condition of Armenia. The Turkish minister for foreign affairs, Said Pasha, has paid frequent visits to the British embassy since the reply of the porte to the note of the powers was delivered, and it is hoped that it will result in persuading the sultan to accept the inevitable as gracefully as possible.

FIRED ON CHINESE FORTS.

German Gunboat Helps President of the Formosa Republic to Escape.

Hong Kong, June 7.—Advices from Taipehfu, Island of Formosa, describe affairs in that town as still in a chaotic condition. The native quarter of Taipehfu has been burned. During the conflagration a magazine exploded and killed ninety Chinese.

The German gunboat Iltis fired on the Chinese forts at Hobe, presumably because a merchant steamer with Tang, the former president of the so-called republic of Formosa, on board, with a number of refugee Chinese soldiers, was not allowed to leave. The forts were silenced by the fire of the gunboat and the native gunners fled. Subsequently the merchant steamer proceeded.

KILLED IN A WRECK.

Freight and Coal Trains Collide on a Pennsylvania Railroad.

Pottsville, Pa., June 7.—A freight and a coal train collided on the Reading road at Locustdale, near Ashland, shortly before daylight yesterday, whereby the engineer, fireman and front brakeman of the freight were killed, and the two trains were so badly wrecked that it took several hours to clear the tracks sufficiently to permit trains to run through. The pecuniary damage will amount to over $50,000. The killed are:

ENGINEER MOYER of Tamaqua; married; leaves large family.

FIREMAN KLEES of Tamaqua; married.

BRAKEMAN BOTTS of Shamokin; married.

Moyer and Klees were under the wreck for about six hours before their bodies could be recovered.

Mysterious Indiana Murder.

Terre Haute, Ind., June 7.—The dead body of Chauncey Pickrell of New Goshen was found yesterday lying in a pool of blood a mile and a half west of this city. A revolver was found under the man's left side. Papers and other property of the dead man were scattered over a radius of twenty feet. A pocketbook containing $8 was in his pocket, besides a number of valuable receipts. Pickrell was married a week ago last Tuesday to Miss Lizzie Baird at Vermillion, and on Saturday and Sunday visited Mrs. Baird in this city. Sunday night he drove from the city in company with his wife. When he left his home at New Goshen to return to Terre Haute is not known. Police have information that the dead man was seen with a stranger on the day of his death, but this furnishes no clew. Pickrell died six days after his marriage, had his life insured for $2,000 payable to his wife.

No Pardon for Van Leuven.

Washington, June 7.—The President has denied the application for pardon in the case of George M. Van Leuven, convicted in Iowa for violation of the pension laws and sentenced Dec. 15 to two years' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $1,000. In denying the application for a pardon, the President says: "This convict was leniently treated by the courts, and I do not think the representations as to his health are sufficient to justify his pardon."

Perish in the Flood.

Stuttgart, June 7.—There was a tremendous cloudburst yesterday evening over the Wurtemburg portion of the Black Forest district, causing great destruction of property. Many persons are missing and it is feared they were drowned in the flood. Ten persons were drowned at Ballingen, seven were killed at Frommern and nine are missing in addition from the last-named place. At Lanfen ten persons were killed.

Will Represent Montana.

Butte, Mont., June 7.—The chamber of commerce has selected Senators Tom Carter and Lee Mantle and Congressman Hartman to represent Montana at the Memphis silver conference June 12.

Evangelical Lutherans.

Hagerstown, Md., June 7.—The first business session of the general synod, Evangelical Lutheran church, began here yesterday. The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted: President, the Rev. H. L. Draugher, of Gettysburg; secretary, the Rev. William S. Freas of New York; treasurer, Louis Mauss of Cincinnati.

COLLEGE FIELD DAY DREW A BIG CROWD

FIVE HUNDRED PEOPLE SEE THE BELOIT SPORTS.

There Were Athletic Events of All Kinds and the Day's Fun Ended With a Base Ball Game Between the Faculty and the Senior Class.

Beloit, June 8.—[Special]—About five hundred people witnessed the fifteenth annual college field day sports, which began at 8 o'clock this morning on Keep athletic field. There were fifteen events, and for the best performance in each, valuable prizes are given. Among them are seven gold medals put up by the various classes. The day was closed with a ball game between the professors and senior class of the college, this afternoon, and was witnessed by an intensely interested crowd of citizens.

Madison, Wis., June 7.—The Modern Woodmen have decided to extend the territory of the order to Ohio, Indiana, and Missouri, excepting a few counties in the southeastern part. It refused to include the Cairo district of southern Illinois in its territory. It was also decided to establish a camp in Chicago, but the camp will only take in men who have joined the order elsewhere.

The next head camp will be held in Dubuque, Iowa. The election is being held to-day. Twenty-five thousand people from southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois attended the big picnic here yesterday. Twenty-seven bands and about fifty delegations of Woodmen were in the parade.

Elevators Burn at Appleton, Wis.

Appleton, Wis., June 7.—Fire last evening destroyed the elevators of the Wisconsin Malt and Grain company. The fire broke out at 5 o'clock in the old elevator of the company. In half an hour the fire communicated to the big elevator of the same company, where 150,000 bushels of malt and barley were stored. The two elevators and the office of the Malt company burned to the ground. The damage will reach at least $150,000, with $80,000 insurance.

CONDITION OF KANSAS WHEAT

Southern and Western Portions of the State Badly Damaged.

Wichita, Kan., June 7.—Conservative estimates of the probable wheat crop in southern and western Kansas are: Cowley County, one-fourth crop; Sedgewick County, one-half crop; Sumner County, one-fourth crop; Reno County, not to exceed one-fourth of a crop. There will be a good half crop in Harstroff County. In all the counties along the main line of the Santa Fe west and in the counties south of the main line there will be a total failure of wheat. In the territory visited by the recent heavy rains the wheat is filling out much better than was anticipated. Taking Oklahoma and the Indian Territory as a whole, there will probably not be as much wheat raised as was put in for seed. Corn in southern Kansas is in splendid condition, and the prospects indicate the largest crop for years.

OLD MINE CAVES IN.

Several Buildings Badly Damaged at Scranton, Pa.

Scranton, Pa., June 7.—An extensive mine cave-in in the old workings in the northern section of this city badly damaged several dwellings yesterday and caused the occupants of many of the houses to flee in their nightclothes. The squeeze came suddenly and without warning. It was caused by a "working" in the Providence Coal company's four-foot vein. The buildings affected are six double dwellings. Nobody was injured, although the movable contents of all the houses were badly damaged. The loss cannot be estimated until the surface ceases to settle. Already the damage is from $10,000 to $15,000.

Ordered Out of Town.

Tuskogee, Ala., June 7.—Twenty of the most prominent citizens of this place called on the Rev. Mr. Kelly, a white man from Ohio, last evening, and informed him that his presence was obnoxious, and that he must leave on the first train or abide the consequences. Kelly has been holding a protracted meeting in the negro church for the last ten days, eating, sleeping and mingling with the negroes. He is teaching and practicing social equality, which will never be submitted to here.

Gill Hamilton Sinking.

Washington, June 7.—The condition of Miss Mary Abigail Dodge (Gill Hamilton) becomes no better, and it is now sadly admitted that her sickness has resulted in the partial loss of her mental powers. This condition has been coming on for some days, until now the noted writer has almost entirely lost the use of her faculties.

Hitt Will Soon Be Out.

Washington, D. C., June 7.—Congressman Hitt is much better and if he continues to improve at his present rate he will soon be able to leave his bed. As soon as his condition will permit arrangements will be made to take him away from Washington.

A HAPPY WEDDING AT MILTON TOWN

RICHARDSON-HUGHET NUP-TIALS ON WEDNESDAY.

The Newly Wedded Couple Will Make Their Home At Genoa Junction Where the Groom Is In Charge of a Congregation—Notes From the Junction and Other County Towns.

MILTON, June 7.—On Wednesday there was a beautiful home wedding at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Richardson. The house, which is one of the handsomest in the town, is especially adapted for just such occasions. The beauty of the interior was enhanced by the decorations. Flowers and ferns were banked in the fire place and about the rooms until the whole was a bewildering mass of loveliness. Promptly at 10:30 to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Bessie Clarke, the bride, wearing a white organdy and carrying a bunch of white roses, entered the parlor on the arm of the groom. They were accompanied by Channing Richardson as best man and Miss Marcia E. Hughes of Milwaukee, as maid of honor. Standing under a graceful arch of evergreens and white lilies, Rev. James Churm, of Milwaukee, united in marriage Miss Hannah A. Hughes of Milwaukee, and the Rev. Frank A. Richardson of Genoa Junction. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served, at which about forty guests were present. The bridal couple left on the noon train for Genoa Junction, where they will be tendered a reception by the groom's parishioners. It is somewhat out of the ordinary to congratulate the bride, but upon this occasion we not only feel called upon to break the rules of Dame Etiquette, but cheerfully do so, for Frank is universally loved and respected wherever known.

As for the bride, of a sunny happy temperament, she will certainly make a minister's ideal wife. This is saying a great deal, but not too much, as her many friends will all agree. The presents were many and some extremely handsome. Among those present from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Hughes, Rev. and Mrs. James Churm, William Hughes, Miss Marcia E. Hughes, Miss Amy Wick, Miss A. Frahm and Miss Lottie Flower of Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes of Whitewater, Mr. Tom McWilliams of Boscombe, Mr. and Mrs. James Richardson of Fort Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Arthur of Edgerton, D. T. Kenyon of Janesville, Misses Kittie Douglas of Rock Prairie, Effa Walrath of Indian Ford, Anna Richardson of Rockford. Among those present residing here were: President and Mrs. Whitford, Rev. C. E. Carpenter and wife, Rev. W. T. Miller, Rev. William Walker, Mr. and Mrs. D. Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Sowle, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Bliss, Misses Lucy Walker, Mary Borden, Alice and Birdie Millar, Bessie Clarke, Gertrude Davidson, Helen Holmes, Blanche Williams, Lizzie Jackson, Effie Smart and Louise Steer. Messrs. W. A. Thompson, Frank Root and Channing Richardson. The college botany class, under the guardianship of Prof. Kumlein, enjoyed its annual excursion Tuesday. They spent the day in the Lima tamarack swamp and secured some rare and valuable specimens. The newly elected officers of the King's Daughters are: Leader, Miss Alice Millar; vice leader, Miss Anna Crumb; secretary Mrs. T. A. Saunders; treasurer, Miss Mary Borden. Home grown strawberries are in the market. This is ten days ahead of last season. B. H. Wells is again able to ride to the village, but feels rather slim. Dr. G. W. Post, of Chicago, was here Thursday on professional business. Miss Ella Atherton attended the Grand Lodge of Rebekahs at Madison, as a representative of the Milton sisters. The Miltons visited Richmond Tuesday, and the ball club of that burgh did them up by a score of 14 to 12. The Miltons did not play their regular nine. F. H. Gifford and I. Kelly represented Du Lac Lodge at Madison. Mesdames E. M. Dunn and P. E. Seaver attended the state convention of the W. C. T. U. at Fond du Lac as delegate from the Milton society. Mrs. Dr. Ella Crandall of this village (not Clinton) read two papers at the meeting of the state Homeopathic association this week. Rev. E. M. Dunn has gone to Jackson Center, Ohio, as a delegate to the Northwestern association of the Seventh Day Baptists. Mrs. A. C. Flanders of Portage, was the guest of Mrs. P. E. Seaver this week. Miss Mamie Babcock of Clinton has been visiting Milton relatives.

THE BIG PICNIC WILL COME HERE

THE JANESEVILLE WOODMEN
WIN THE FIGHT.

No Other City Was In The Competition And It All Came Our Way—Members of Florence Camp Returned Home Last Night Feeling Pretty Well, Thank You.

We get the big picnic. It's all settled. There was no other town in the competition.

Next year they'll be here. Ask we won't charge them fifty cents for five cents worth of beans either.

When the Woodmen come we'll give em the keys to the city. Members of Florence Camp felt good when they got home last night. They had inaugurated and carried through a vigorous campaign and it has borne fruit. The Bower City delegation arrived home at 10:30 last night and they marched so jauntily, and the band played as happily as it did when they left yesterday morning.

They got what they went after. And that was enough for one day.

The crowd was something beyond comprehension. Fully 30,000 people were in the Capital City yesterday, and it was almost more than the city could hold. The largest delegation was that from Rockford, Ill., which numbered over 400. Other large delegations were: Beloit, 250; Freeport, Ill., 150; Waukegan, Ill., 200; Sycamore, Ill., 150; Dubuque, Ia., 200; Janesville, 150.

One hundred members of the order, each of which weighed over 200 pounds, marched together. They did not wear any coats and all had on straw hats. They were the merriest crowd in the procession.

Many Bands In Line.

There were twenty-five bands in line beside the Imperials, who, by the way, carried off all the musical honors. They came from Hillsborough, Belleville, Evansville, Prairie du Chien, Clinton, Janesville, Stoughton, Shullsburg, Madison and the state university, all of Wisconsin, from Cedarville, Polo, Rockford, Mendota, Burlington, Algoma, Freeport, Fort Donaldson, Russell, Kirkland, Dundee, Creston, and Rochelle, Illinois, and Dubuque, Iowa.

Speeches were made by Governor Upham, C. E. Whelan, City Attorney Alarwood, Head Consul, W. A. Northcott, R. M. La Follette, Ex-Governor Hoard, Dr. McKinney of Chicago, Dr. Frank Swallow and E. E. Murphy of Kansas, and Mr. Heydecker of Waukegan, Ill.

The parade was a mile long, the head officers riding on a load of logs hauled by oxen. Five thousand people were in line they said.

Next Meeting At Dubuque.

The next biennial meeting of the Head Camp will be held at Dubuque, Ia.

The nomination of officers resulted as follows: Head consul, W. A. Northcott, Greenville, Ill.; head advisor, B. B. Home, Davenport, Ia.; head clerk, Charles W. Hawes, Fulton, Ill.; head banker, A. H. Hollister, Marion, Wis.; D. C. Zink, Grand Island, Neb.; John S. King, Omaha, Neb.; head physicians, R. E. Beech, Vandalia, Ill.; C. A. McCollum, Minneapolis, Iowa; J. B. Hibdon, Kansas; E. Porterfield, Iowa; A. W. Hyde, S. D.; P. C. Palmer, Missouri; I. L. Potter, Iowa; S. E. Hawes, Nebraska; W. F. Gooden, Nebraska; J. F. Corbett, Wisconsin; Frank Swallow, Kansas; P. E. Jones, Kansas; head chaplain, E. B. Farmilo, Rockford, Ill.; head escort: W. H. Dawson, Slaton, Minn.; H. C. Blanchard, Mendota, Ill.; head watchman: E. C. Burkhardt, Mexico, Mo.; head sashery, L. E. Mitch, Carly, Ill.; Board of Directors: J. G. Johnson, Kansas; A. R. Talbot, Nebraska; J. M. Reece, Illinois; J. W. White, Illinois; M. Quackenbush, Illinois; Perry Perkins, Iowa. Auditing committee: C. D. Sharrou, Michigan; D. I. Thornton Missouri; W. A. Doron, Iowa.

INDIFFERENCE.

Dear, I can bear your anger patiently, And all the little pangs that it begets; There lurks no meaning in your thoughtless threats; They wound but slightly, though undue they be. I can but wait your sunny self to see Returned, and mourn meanwhile when care besets. You do not find for all your woes and frets A better exorcist in love and me.

But, dear, I cannot bear your coldness, no' The cruel line of silent, tight closed lips, And until eyes, as fixed as a stone; How these do torture me none, none can show. I drift unsuccored of all passing ships Upon a bitter sea, unloved, alone. —Edward W. Barnard in Kate Field's Washington.

APARTMENTS TO LET

It must be said that Anatole Pluchin was on the eve of getting married. These things may happen to anybody, and I don't mention the fact in order to ask your pity on his behalf, because his intended was a charming girl. Her name was Andree—delightful name! She was blond—agreeable color. She was 20 years and 7 months old—attractive age. She belonged to a family that was worthy of all respect, a fact to be considered.

That rogue Anatole! He knew the young girl was in love with him—madly in love with him. Had she not confessed to him that she would die rather than marry another? I know well that these things are often said and rarely executed. But in this case, although Anatole was a blond, she was the owner of an energetic and decided character. Ah! mais oui. When she said things like this, her blue eyes darted terrible lightnings.

Domesticit was this strong temperament that prevented her parents from making any objections and placing any obstacles in her way. There was no good talking to Andree!

"You know, mamma," she had repeated again and again, "I want this matter to be finished quickly."

"Ent, my dear child, there are certain delays and certain formalities"—

"The delays can be hurried."

"That is true."

"And the formalities can be simplified."

"I have no objections, dear, if it will give you pleasure."

"Then, mamma, let us consider the engagement as settled."

"Settled! Your lover has only exchanged a very few words with your father."

"You know that my father does what you wish."

"My daughter, you exaggerate."

"It is understood; let us waste no more time discussing it. I shall be married on the 10th of next month!"

"We shall see."

"Not the 11th—the 10th. It falls on a Saturday. I have already looked in the almanac."

"You have thought of everything."

"I'm thinking only of him."

"Well, he is a happy man to be able to inspire such an affection."

"When you were married didn't you have the same feeling?"

"The very same, my child. But perhaps my thermometer—that is the register of my feelings—was not quite so high as yours is."

"Well, now, mamma, let us start the campaign."

"Start the campaign? What do you mean?"

"Find an apartment."

"Is it possible?"

"You do not wish us to live in the street, I suppose?"

"No; but—"

"Tomorrow morning then we will start out."

"The"—

"Tomorrow, directly after breakfast, for apartments are sometimes difficult to find. Now, mamma, let me give you a kiss, you are so good."

She spoke the truth. Her mother was an excellent creature, and Anatole Pluchin was—well, his mother, her future mother-in-law, was of the kind that are nowadays seldom to be found.

The day following at the appointed hour Anatole was ready to attack Paris and ransack it from end to end in her endeavors to find the nest—that is, the apartments—of her dreams. Her valiant mother was prepared to accompany her. The poor old woman had burned her throat with her coffee and had nearly choked herself over the sugar at the bottom of the cup.

"Forward march! En avant!" cried the joyous voice of Andree.

Young and inexperienced, she little knew what a terrible thing it is to hunt for rooms in Paris; to climb up dozens and dozens of steps and to undergo the searching questioning of zealous concierges and indiscreet portieres.

After an hour and a half of this exercise the unfortunate girl was exhausted. And her mother! She followed her daughter puffing like a grampus and dragging her legs after her as if they were logs of heavy timber! "Ouf! Ouf! Ouf!"

Then at length, "Mamma, look at that pretty house!"

"So it is."

"With a view from the back windows over the gardens."

"And a sign out..."

"Precisely. Apartment to let. Inquire within."

"Let us ask the price. I have an idea that it will be just the thing."

The price was just what the girl had judged reasonable for herself and her future husband.

"Let us go up stairs," cried Andree, who was delighted. "We can see over it, can we not?" she asked the concierge.

"Certainly, mademoiselle."

"Is any one living here now?" asked the mother.

"Yes, madame."

"Who?"

There was a second's almost imperceptible hesitation on the part of the concierge.

"A young widow, madame."

"Ah!" remarked the mother, "and doubtless she wishes to leave a house that has painful memories for her."

A flashily dressed girl opened the door in answer to their ring.

"These ladies desire to see the apartment," explained the concierge.

The girl made a remark in a low voice that escaped the other's ears. It was accompanied by an expressive shrug of the shoulders.

"Entrez," she said aloud.

Andree and her mother walked in. Everything most comfortable, ma foi, in this apartment. Quite a discovery, in fact. The furniture was commodious and elegant and placed each piece in the corner where it best belonged. And the appointments! And the cupboards! And the kitchen! And the arrangement of the light! The visitors were completely charmed.

"Andree, I think it must be your good star that guided us here."

But she stopped suddenly.

"Why, where are you, Andree? Where can she have gone to? Andree!"

A distant and sorrowful cry came in answer.

"Andree. Mon Dieu! what's the matter?" cried her mother, alarmed.

This is what had happened: Andree, inquisitive little girl that she was, had turned down a passage and suddenly opened a door. She was curious to see what the room was like.

The door, it so happened, was that of a private boudoir. Inside, as she stood, pretty as a fairy, in the doorway, she saw a velvet sofa. On the sofa she saw, half reclining, a very pretty young widow with black eyes and a demurely sweet face. Kneeling on the soft Turkish rug beside her, with his hand upon her heart and an expression of eternal love upon his face, was a young man.

Andree heard no words, but the noise of opening the door caused the young man to spring to his feet and face her.

"Ah! Mon Dieu! Andree!"

It was indeed Anatole.

* * * * *

Andree possessed a resolute character, as we know. She never saw Anatole again, and the amount the courts granted her for breach of promise of marriage is not exactly known.

In this way a mother-in-law who was anxious to do all she could for her son-in-law only succeeded in bringing about results that were a hundred times worse than the most bitter hostilities.

Such is the irony of fate, and doubtless it was best for the happiness of belle Andree.—From the French.

Rubinstein Not a Happy Man.

Thought his life was full of work and he was ever faithful to duty, Rubinstein was not a happy man. With each succeeding year he grew more and more pessimistic. Life failed to give him the amount of enjoyment he craved outside his art, and except in the society of women he did not seem even commonly happy. But for the fair sex he had ever a joke and a smile. It amused him to shock their feelings, and when they opened their eyes wide at his audacity he never failed to enjoy it. He believed that a knowledge of woman was necessary to an artist, and if a young aspirant to any artistic calling asked his advice his first question was, "Have you loved yet?" For he believed that a man who could not love was incapable of becoming an artist. He himself could not be accused of any failing in this case, for his loves were almost as many and various as his days. He had all the faults and all the virtues of his artistic calling, and in every sense of the word lived for his art and his fancy regardless of all things. His was a true bohemian nature.

There was a certain roughness, want of tact and even brutality in his nature that made itself disagreeably felt at times. His was not a temper to be tried.

Up to a certain point he could hold it in check admirably, but anything beyond this caused an explosion of wrath that was terrible. As in his physiognomy, so in his temper there was much of the lion. Those who did not know him consequently feared him, for his personality was one that awed, especially in the latter years of his life.—Alexander McArthur in Century.

Polite Lies.

Soon after Rowland Hill became secretary of the British postoffice he summoned together some of his subordinates—the surveyors, as they are officially called—to consider a paper of instructions on some important matter which he was sending out. He read it to them to make sure that it covered the ground. One of them was Anthony Trollope, afterward famous as a novelist.

When the reading was finished, Trollope, naturally desirous, as a young man, to show that he had a head upon his shoulders, challenged not the scope and tenor of the instructions, but the literary composition. That, however, was not what the secretary desired of the nature.

"I think, Mr. Hill," Trollope is reported to have said, "that the language of paragraph so and so, literally construed, may be held to mean what you do not intend."

Rowland Hill was not a man who loved correction of that sort, and he answered with great slowness and deliberation:

"You must be aware, Mr. Trollope, that a phrase is not always intended to bear a literal construction. For instance, when I write to one of you gentlemen, I end my letter with the words, 'I am, sir, your obedient servant,' whereas you know I am nothing of the sort."

"Now, you must not let this go any farther," said Watts to McDavid after retailing a choice bit of scandal.

"Oh, certainly not," said McDavid.

DEMOCRATIC CONFUSION.

The action of the Illinois Free silver convention, indicates that the democratic party is sadly mixed up on the money question. The administration on one side, backed by a large element of conservative democrats, is confronted with an enthusiastic element, determined at all hazards to commit the party to free coinage on a 16 to 1 basis, independent of international agreement. That the two factions can unite on common ground, does not seem probable, and yet the party is very elastic and noted for loyalty.

The National Silver convention, recommended by the Illinois meeting, will doubtless be called and the strength of the free silver contingency can then be determined. That the people's party can be brought into the democratic camp by recognition of the free silver issue, is already apparent, and with defeat staring the party in the face it is reasonable to suppose that strenuous efforts will be made to capture anything that is politically loose. Under the circumstances, the republican party can well afford to await developments. Aside from the Pacific states where personal gain enters largely into the issue, republicans are united on the money question. One or two planks in the platform of the Kentucky republican state convention, expresses the popular sentiment of the party at large.

"We are opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver, believing that it would involve the country in financial ruin. We believe in a sound currency and in the use of both gold and silver for coinage, provided always that a dollar in one is made principally as valuable as a dollar in the other."

"We favor a tariff so regulated as to protect the interests of all classes of our citizens upon articles that may be successfully manufactured or produced in this country thus, assuring good wages to the laborer and a home market to the producer. In connection with this we favor the reestablishment of the doctrine of reciprocity. We believe that such a system will defray every governmental expense, gradually liquidate all indebtedness, restore public confidence and relegate to the rear the undue excitement now prevailing concerning the currency. In view of the past financial history of the democratic party, its devotion to the old state bank system and wild cat tendencies, we affirm that the republican party can be more safely trusted to regulate the financial system of the nation."

We favor an American policy which will protect Americans and American interests in any part of the world."

This is republican doctrine of the right sort, and expresses a sentiment, founded on principle, that will be incorporated in every platform, state or national, that will be adopted during the next two years. A single plank from the platform of the democratic Illinois convention will be worth reading in comparison:

"Resolved, By the democrats of Illinois in convention assembled, that we are in favor of the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the United States and demand the free and unlimited coinage of both metals at the ratio of 16 to 1 without waiting for the action of any other nation; and such coin shall be a legal tender for all debts, both public and private and that all contracts hereafter executed for the payment of money whether in gold, silver or coin may be discharged by any money which is by law legal tender."

If President Cleveland and his admirers, can harmonize the democratic party, with such confusion staring them in the face, they are better politicians, than their record warrants.

THE DOCTORS FINISH THEIR WORK

Homeopathic Medicine Society Elect New Officers and Adjourn Last Night.

The Wisconsin State Homeopathic Medical Society finished their work and adjourned last evening, after electing the following officers and choosing Milwaukee as the next meeting place:

President—Harvey Dale, M. D., Oshkosh.

First Vice President—M. L. Huntington, M. D., Darlington.

Second Vice President—M. L. Ewing, M. D., Evansville.

Recording Secretary—Dr. Joseph Lewis, Milwaukee.

Corresponding Secretary—Dr. A. R. F. Grob, Milwaukee.

Treasurer—Dr. E. W. Babbe, Milwaukee.

Delegates to the National convention to be held at Newport, R. I., were chosen also, the choice being Dr. N. A. Penoyer, Kenosha; Dr. Lewis Sherman, Milwaukee; and Dr. Q. O. Sutherland, Janesville. The session was shortened up considerably as all the delegates wished to get through and the business scheduled for this morning was reached last night. About sixty delegates were present and the meeting was a profitable one in every way.

John Oliver Hobbes.

A great many women writers have adopted masculine noms de plume because they believed they would attract the attention of a larger circle of readers, but Mrs. Craigie made her literary debut as "John Oliver Hobbes" because her first book appeared in a pseudonym library. The book was "Some Emotions and a Moral" and made such a hit in England that Mrs. Craigie lost no time in revealing her identity. She has since published several other books which have materially increased her reputation. Mrs. Craigie was Miss Pearl Richards before her marriage and is the daughter of John Morgan Richards, a New York business man who has become one of the wealthiest wholesale chemists in London.

Baltimore's Centennial.

In 1897 the city of Baltimore will be 100 years old, and it is proposed to celebrate the anniversary with a centennial exposition. Baltimore received its first settlers away back in 1662 and was first called Baltimore in honor of Lord Baltimore in 1730. In 1752 the town had 25 houses and 200 inhabitants. In 1797

GENERAL MANAGER FRED BRACKETT. It was such a big town—the population was about 20,000—that it was made a city, and this the coming Centennial exposition is to celebrate. A site comprising 305 acres at Clifton park, the country place of Johns Hopkins, has been selected. Major Fred Brackett, who was prominently connected with the World's fair and was chief clerk of the treasury department during the Harrison administration, will be general manager of the exposition.

Speaker of the Commons.

William Court Gully, the new speaker of the British house of commons, is a grandson of John Gully, the old time English pugilist who twice whipped gigantic Bill Gregson in 1807 and 1808, was offered the championship of England, but declined it, retired from the ring and was elected to the house of commons in 1832. William Court Gully was born in London in 1835. In 1860 he was called to the bar and became queen's counsel in 1877. In 1878 he became a bencher, and in 1886 was returned to parliament by the electors of Carlisle. In 1892 he was re-elected and still represents the same constituency. In politics he is a Liberal and a strong supporter of Mr. Gladstone's Irish policy.

Editor Frank B. Noyes.

Frank B. Noyes, plaintiff in the celebrated Dana criminal libel case, is a successful Washington newspaper man about 30 years of age. He is a son of Crosby Noyes, who has been one of the best known Washington newspaper men for a score of years. In 1875 the elder Noyes, then a Washington correspondent of decided talent, combined with two other correspondents and purchased the Washington Star, which then had a small circulation and little influence. The trio made the newspaper a great financial success, and for the past ten years Frank B. Noyes has been associated with his father in the editorial conduct of the paper.

You Don't Have to Swear Off says the St. Louis Journal of Agriculture in an editorial about No-To-Bac the famous tobacco habit cure. "We know of many cases cured by No-To-Bac, one, a prominent St. Louis architect, smoked and chewed for twenty years; two boxes cured him so that even the smell of tobacco makes him sick." No-To-Bac sold and guaranteed by E. B. Helmstreet. No cure, no pay. Boot free. Sterling Remedy Co., New York or Chicago.

B. H. Bowman: Pub. Enquirer, of Bremen, Ind., writes: Last week our little girl baby, the only one we have, was taken sick with croup. After two doctors failed to give relief and life was hanging on a mere thread, we tried One Minute Cough Cure, its life was saved. C. D. Stevens.

Our Ability

To be of the greatest service to you depends to some extent on you transferring with us. Our line runs practically through the center of the state, and we desire to aid in improving the business of the community at the same time benefiting our road.

If those who read this will enquire how our train service is conducted they will be sure to make more use of our lines.

Our trains are run to accommodate the business, and for comfort and prompt service we offer a line around, are not exceeded. We want to build up our interlining interests, and abundance of timber of all kinds, Pine, Hemlock, Oak, Birch, Maple, Basswood, etc. Tan-bark, together with Granite and Limestone Quarries, Clay beds for brick, and our unlimited supply of iron ore, with general proximity to markets these facts should be of interest to all to locate manufacturers.

Correspondence is solicited from all who want to do business with us.

The Problem Solved.
Mrs. Rullem—Your husband is still as devoted as a lover. I don't see how you manage.

Mrs. Kissem—It's very simple. When he comes home late, I always pretend to be asleep; when he has a headache in the morning, I tell him he is overworked; when he leaves his hat in the parlor, his overcoat in the dining-room and his overshoes upstairs, I quietly gather them up, and put them in the front hall; and when we go to the theater, I never forget to suggest that he should improve the shining hours between the acts by going out and talking business with his customers. Oh! it's easy enough to keep a man devoted, if you only know how.—N. Y. Weekly.

An Old Bachelor's Excuse.

"You were never married, I believe."

"No, I was never married."

"That's singular, isn't it?"

"No, not at all. You see, the first time I fell in love I said to myself: 'I'll marry her then.'

"Why didn't you marry her then?"

"Well, you see, after I had become better acquainted with her, I said to myself I'll marry none rather than her. Since that I've got along very well with none."—Texas Siftings.

Not a Monotonous Trip.

Old Lady—Don't you think this work rather monotonous?

Elevator Boy—No, indeed, ma'am, it's real exciting. Only yesterday a man started out too soon an' got his head smashed, and last week the hull machine broke an' went down kerching, an' killed everybody but me. That there rope looks sort o' weak. Hope shell last till we're up. The engineer is drunk to-day, too, and that sort o' makes things interesting.—Good News.

Like His Dad.

Parson Johnson—How's yo' son gittin' on in de city, Mrs. Jackson?

Mrs. Jackson—Misabul! misabul! He hain't got no mo' sense dan his fader had at da same age.

Parson Johnson—W-wot's he be'n doin'?

Mrs. Jackson (with magnificent disdain)—He's b'ng gittin' married to a low-down brack wench.—Jude.

Called Down.

Miss Penns—if his lordship should propose, I shall not have you to thank.

Penns—What have I done to retard your courtship?

Miss Penns—Even if you are in the pork business that is no reason why you should always refer to him as "Me Lard."—N. Y. World.

A Letter Day Proposal.

Chancey Gush (kneeling)—I lay my heart and my future at your feet. Both are yours if you will only accept them.

Miss Cheque—if you will submit a certified statement of the latter, papa and I will take it under consideration, and will advise you of our decision in a few days.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Liked His Church.

Little Boy—I like our church better than any other.

Fond Mother—Bless his heart! Why?

Little Boy—We are always changing ministers, and every time we change, there's most generally three or four Sundays when there isn't any church.—Good News.

Resolution Ware.

Caller—That vase is perfectly lovely. What do you call it?

Hostess—Resolution china.

Caller—What a peculiar name.

Hostess—Yes, but it's so easily broken.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Callers Given Warning.

He entered the editor's sanctum and vented his views unsought. And the next day was hanged as a bandit for wrecking a train of thought.

MORE BINDING.

"The best thing to seal a proposal is a kiss, is it not?"

"No, dear; a witness."—Pick-Me-Up.

He Sits That Way.

Totting—The kangaroo strikes me as being a very sick animal.

Dilming—I don't know why that should be the case.

Totting—Well, I never saw one that was not on its last legs.—Judge.

Oh, Yes! Certainly.

"Now, you will have to ask papa for his consent," said Miss Willing to her accepted suitor.

"Oh, yes! Certainly!" replied Jack Toy. "Of course! Er—has he a telephone at his office?"—Puck.

A Consultation.

Patient—Doctor, my memory has recently become shockingly bad.

Doctor—Indeed? In these cases, sir, it is my invariable rule to ask for my fee in advance.—London Punch.

An Important Point.

"Here comes your old enemy, the major!"

"Is he loaded?"

"I think so."

"Jug or shotgun?"—Atlanta Constitution.

An Ambitious Cat.

Mr. Boulevard—What a dreadful noise that cat makes out in the back yard.

Mrs. Boulevard—Yes, since she ate up the canary bird she imagines she can sing.—Texas Siftings.

Deferring the Visit.

Mr. Dunn (unpaid bill in his hand)—When shall I call again, Mr. Owens?

Mr. Owens—Well, it would hardly be proper for you to call again until I have returned the present call.—Harpers Bazaar.

Flat Failure.

"It won't work," said Jones, sadly.

"What won't work?"

"Hypnotism. Tried it on the butcher."

Looked at him fixedly until I had his undivided attention; then I said very slowly and with emphasis: 'That—bill—is—paid.'

"And what did the butcher do?"

"He said: 'You're a liar!'—N. Y. Press.

Effect of Civic Reform.

Plugwinch—We may expect the best results from civic reform, and the election of a better class of officials.

Sinnick—Humph! It'll only increase taxation.

Plugwinch—How so?

Sinnick—Because these new fellows won't sell themselves as cheap as the old lot did.—Puck.

On the Train.

First Passenger—Be pardon, but what are you reading that you find so interesting?

Second Passenger—It's an article showing the terrible effects which are likely to follow reading in a moving railway car. It is very interesting, and so convincing, too. (Proceeds with his reading)—Demorest's Magazine.

Unfortunately Put.

"Uncle," said the impetuous nephew, "you ought to go and see the new play. You would just die laughing."

The old man merely glared. In a few moments later there could be heard the sound of a scratching pen as he altered his will for the forty-fourth time.—Cincinnati Tribune.

Indorsed.

"The poor are always with us!" the beseeching parson cried.

As the deacon passed among the money droppers:

And the sum that they collected his assertion ratified.

For the contribution plates were filled with coppers.

—Puck.

That's Where They Differ.

Alice—if we stay on this rock much longer the tide will wash us off. Time and tide, you know, wait for no man.

Marie (mournfully) — That's where they differ from us. — Rogersville (Tenn.) Review.

An Example to Congress.

"You are charged," said the judge, "with passing counterfeit bills."

"Yes, yer honor, but be merciful, fer I've never had any show; if I'd only been in congress I'd never passed any bills at all!"—Atlanta Constitution.

There Is Danger in Delay.

Since 1861 I have been a great sufferer from catarrh. I tried Ely's Cream Balm, and to all appearances am cured.

Terrible headaches from which I had long suffered, are gone.—W. J. Hitchcock, late Major U. S. Vol. and A. A. Gen., Buffalo, N. Y.
